To Vote on Committees for ASC

The approaching election of ASC community committees for farm program administration in Hempstead County was announced today by Ralph Montgomery, of the agricultural stabilization and conservation county committee.

He called attention to the fact that the community committee elections this year are being held during the third week of September in all agricultural communities throughout the Nation in an effort to increase the awareness of this important farm-program function, on eligible voters.

The farmer-committee system is a unique means of administering national agricultural programs and policies. The community committees assist the ASC county committee in administering the price support, acreage diversion, agricultural conservation, and farm-action programs in the county; they are particularly responsible for keeping their neighbors informed about the programs. The county committee supervises the ASCS county office and is responsible for the local administration of the various programs.

Sunday at Walter Reed Army Hospital, five days after an operation for lung cancer.

Medical announcements had indicated he was progressing toward recovery. But on Sunday, he suffered a cardiac and respiratory arrest. Two hours of efforts at resuscitation proved futile, and Dirksen died at 4:52 p.m. EDT.

President Nixon called Dirksen a giant in the history of Congress, a great American, a warm personal friend. "To politics and government he brought a dedication matched by few and a style and eloquence matched by no political leader in our time," the President said. "He had his greatest moments as the leader of the loyal opposition."

The White House said Nixon expects to attend the funeral. Mansfield said he hopes most of the Senate will, too.

The funeral is to be held at the National Presbyterian Church, and Dirksen's body is to lie in state for one day at the rotunda of the Capitol. He will be buried in his hometown, Pekin, Ill.

Final, detailed arrangements were to be made today.

Members of Congress, officials and leaders of both parties joined in praising Dirksen and in expressing sympathy to his widow, his daughter, Danice, and his son-in-law, Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn.

Mansfield said as Democratic leader, he had enjoyed a perfect relationship with his Republican counterpart. "His word was good," Mansfield said. "Everything was on the table."

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson—who often found Dirksen a valued ally on the Senate floor—sent a private message of condolence to Mrs. Dirksen.

Dirksen's death left two vital vacancies in the Senate: that of Republican floor leader, and that of senator from Illinois.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, 68, is likely to succeed to the minority leadership on an interim basis. The decision will be made at a conference of 42 remaining Republican senators.

They will, presumably, be joined by a 43rd Republican when GOP Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois appoints a new senator.

Scott, who had been deputy minority leader or whip, was designated acting Republican leader after Dirksen was hospitalized.

Dirksen, who was elected to his fourth Senate term less than a year ago, had suffered repeated illnesses, frequently requiring hospitalization. He blamed recurrent stomach and intestinal disturbances on tension. He also suffered from a bleeding ulcer, a pinched nerve in his back, and emphysema, a lung ailment.

He constantly puffed cigarettes, tried to quit but never succeeded, often borrowed a smoke from a colleague, an aide or a reporter.

It was when Johnson and the late John F. Kennedy were in the White House that Dirksen's power was at its pinnacle. Democratic presidents came to him seeking the votes they needed for key proposals.

Republican Nixon often turned to other Republicans—although Dirksen retained ample political muscle. Critics—among them some of the Senate's younger, more liberal Republicans—accused Dirksen of obstructionism, and there was guarded corridor talk of an eventual attempt to displace the leader.

Six years ago, almost to the day, Dirksen was on the Senate floor, arguing the case for Kennedy in the struggle over ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

He had not, Dirksen said, lost faith in his President. "Take one little step with some hope and some faith," he urged in the familiar, organ-tone voice. The Senate did.

3 Pine Bluff Motorists Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three persons from Pine Bluff were killed and three others injured Sunday in a two-car collision on a bridge about eight miles south of Hazen.

The deaths raised to 408 the number of persons killed in Arkansas this year, compared with 474 for the same period in 1968.

An Associated Press count showed seven persons died in traffic accidents between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

State Police identified the dead in the accident near Hazen as Donna Zorn, 20, Barbara Jean Allen, 24, and Elizabeth Michelle Allen, 5 months.

Injured and hospitalized at Stuttgart were David Zorn, 4, and Billy Allen, 4, both of Pine Bluff, and Judy Willey, 58, of Stuttgart.

Officers discovered the body of the Allen baby hours after the accident after Billy Allen told authorities his sister had been in the car. The child's body was found floating approximately 300 yards from the bridge.

Sammy L. Williams, 10, of McGehee was killed Sunday when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by a car. State Police said the car was driven by Johnny L. West, 17, of McGehee. The accident occurred near the junction of U. S. 65 and Arkansas 4.

Angie Mitchell, 9, of Beebe was killed and six others injured in the collision of a station wagon and tractor trailer truck at the junction of U.S. 67 and Arkansas 36 near Searcy.

All of the injured were in the station wagon. They were the driver, Aletta M. Waugh, 36, Kendall Hall, 6, Kenneth L. Waugh, 36, Jimmy Mitchell, 13, Alleca Mitchell, 12, and Guinn Waugh, 2, all of Beebe.

Red Ryrd, 37, of Batesville, driver of the truck, escaped injury.

A one-car accident three miles south of Lake Village on Arkansas 159 Saturday killed Michael Bateman, 8, of near Portland. Officers said the child and three others were thrown from the car when it went out of control and overturned.

Wade McDaniel, 52, of Jonesboro was killed Saturday in a two-car collision 15 miles south of Jonesboro.

In addition, Hugh Joseph Rukgaber, 62, of Mountain House died Saturday of injuries he suffered Aug. 26 when his car hit a telephone pole on Arkansas 5 about five miles north of Mountain Home.

WALLED LAKE, Mich. (AP) — R. H. Sikes of Springdale had a final round 74 for a 282 total in the $100,000 Michigan Golf Classic Sunday.

Sikes was listed as winning $474 in the tournament in which sponsors announced they did not have the money to pay the prizes.

Dick Crawford of El Dorado had a 76 Sunday for a 289 total and $181 in prize money.

Employment Rises Notch for Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total employment showed a modest increase in August, while the jobless rate remained almost unchanged, the government reported today.

Total employment rose to 78.2 million for the month, an increase of 325,000 from July. The total number of unemployed was 2.9 million, 325,000 fewer than in July.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the jobless rate followed the usual July-August pattern as teen-agers began leaving the summertime job force. Thus, the over-all jobless rate was 3.5 per cent compared to 3.6 per cent in July.

Howard V. Stambler, a government analyst, said this slight decrease isn't significant.

For each committee, three regular members and two alternates will be elected. The chairman, vice-president, and third regular member of the elected ASC community committee will also serve as delegates to the county convention to be held later this month. The alternate committee members are alternate delegates to the convention.

Delegates to the convention will elect farmers to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee, and they will also determine which of the regular county committeemen will serve as chairman and vice-chairman for the coming year.

Questions on eligibility to vote and to hold office or on the election procedure will be determined by the ASC county committee subject to appeal to the ASC State Committee.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. EDWARD RIDDICK RIFFEL, JR.

Miss Phala Brown, daughter of Justice and Mrs. Lyle Brown, became the bride of Edward Riddick Riffel, Jr. of Little Rock, Saturday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church.

Justice Brown gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an organza A-line silhouette with a scope neckline. On the bodice, long Guinevere sleeves and skirt are beaded Peau D' Ange Lace accents. The detachable train repeats the beaded lace motif in appliques. The headpiece was pearl trimmed chantilly lace petals centered by small organza rosebuds. The veil was two tiered silk illusion. The bride was carrying a nosegay of Butterfly roses.

Mrs. James Lockhart, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nance Clippert of Camden, Mrs. Lee Stephens of Little Rock, Miss Barbara Corn-ell of Little Rock, Mrs. Jack Caldwell of Hope, Mrs. Hubert Barksdale of Fayetteville, and Mrs. Ben Thayer of Fort Smith. Miss Shalah Lockhart, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The best man was Jeff Pence of Little Rock. Serving as groomsmen were Don Hampton of North Little Rock, Lee Stephens of Little Rock, Pat Goss of North Little Rock, John Owens of Little Rock, Randy Ray of Washington D.C. and James Lockhart of Hope.

Officiant was Reverend Everett Vinson of Hope. Luther Hollamon of Hope and Mrs. Phil Matthews of Little Rock provided the music.

After a trip, the couple will reside in Fayetteville where the groom will attend the University of Arkansas School of Law.

READERS DISAGREE WITH COLUMNIST

Dear Helen: The letter I refer to appeared several months back, but I can't stop thinking of it. I must write to tell you I disagree with you, and why. This woman said she knew nothing of her father except that an ancient clipping said he had murdered her mother when the family was very young. None of her relatives would tell her anything about him, or where to find him.

You offered suggestions on locating the father, but added, "Somehow I hope you don't follow them." Don't THINK that, Helen!

It's better to know the truth, even though you hate it, than live in doubt.

I am in prison, I have a little girl who doesn't know me. Her mother and grandparents would prefer it staying that way. Yet she'll question and cry some day because she won't want to believe her father is all the bad things they say.

I am going to work hard to give her material things, even though I must stay in the background. I hope that I'll be allowed a little part of her life, but I was once so unstable and irresponsible I know I don't deserve it.

But people can change. I hope my girl searches for me, and when she finds me (if she does), I hope I'll be worthy of her. Maybe the father of your correspondent is waiting for word that his family wants him back. We outcasts can't make the first move. We must always be—WAITING

Dear Waiting: Many correspondents agreed with you that a child should seek out her parent, rather than live in doubt. There can be heartaches either way, but perhaps you're right and I was wrong. I hope some day your daughter finds you!—H.

Dear Helen: When our first son was born, my mother-in-law opened a savings account in his name. On every special occasion after that, we received another note stating that she was putting more money in his account. But the account is made out, not jointly with my husband, but in her name and our son's.

She gave our baby girl a savings bond at birth, and will continue giving them, she says. Again, they are made out to her as trustee for our daughter. We do appreciate the gifts, but feel she doesn't show much trust, if she puts her name on them rather than ours. How can I tell her this, without hurting her feelings?—NOT IRRESPONSIBLE

Dear Not: I think you should leave well enough alone. Your husband's mother has evidently earmarked her gifts for college or some other goal she approves. If she prefers a "trust fund" arrangement, it isn't that she trusts you less, but that she wants a say-so in how her money is spent.—H.

Pockets In Fashion

Men will pocket their share of the fashion parade this fall with a heavy accent on pockets. Everywhere. Most casual shirts, especially knits, will feature flap pockets—even turtle-necks

Muted Colors

Fall colors are toned down, muted, soft and earthy—a return to the tapestry or Renaissance colors. The emphasis is on rust, terra firma brown, berry, dusty pink, navy, hunter green, deep red, black and gold.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Time was when the Miss America Pageant was a pleasant event winding up the season of a resort town. Since it has been televised, however, it has become the unofficial signal that summer and television reruns are just about over.

Anyway, Miss Michigan, Pamela Anne Eldred was crowned, shed her tears of happiness and all went pretty smoothly during the two-hour NBC program Saturday night. That was only one of a quartet of evening specials the network presented over the weekend to help the living-room audience get back in wintertime TV form.

The programs covered considerable territory, starting Friday night with an ambitious and rewarding 90-minute portrait of pianist Artur Schnabel.

Saturday's Miss America goings-on were preceded by an hour of circus acts. And on Sunday there was an unusual memoir of Britain's defense against the Nazi Luftwaffe aid most 30 years ago.

The Rubinstein Program showed a vital, vigorous artist of 83, in love with his music, his wife and his life. It was a portrait of a happy man. The artist reminisced, philosophized, joked and talked about music. He played but most of the time that was almost incidental or to illustrate a point.

The high point of the program was Rubinstein playing Chopin's Polonaise in A flat to an audience of students in Israel.

The "All Star Circus" the following night was standard but superior—jugglers, aerialists, tight rope performers, animal acts—handsomely photographed and perfunctorily hosted by Tony Curtis.

"The Battle for Britain," pegged on a motion picture soon to be released, used the simulated scenes to retail very effective tively the story of the determined resistance of the outnumbered Royal Air Force in 1940 and the danger and hardship undergone by the people of London.

BACK ON THE BOARDS, Helen Hayes has announced she will return to Broadway to play the role of Mrs. Grant in a revival of "The Front Page," a 1928 play written by her late husband, Charles MacArthur, and Ben Hecht.

Scattered through the commentary by actor Michael Caine were some interesting footnotes on the problems of reconstructing accurately events of 30 years ago—of finding aged Spitfires and Hurricanes, the planes that saved Britain, and of reproducing effects of a bombed-out London.

Everglades Indians Cool to 'Relief'

FROG CITY STATION, Fla. (AP) — The Miccosukee Indians, technically at war with the U.S. government for the last 120 years, are still fighting a rear guard action against the white man's progress.

But the reluctant Indians, whose life centers around the lush Everglades swamp, are giving ground little by little before federal antipoverty programs.

"People just don't clamor for benefits and services out here," said Dr. John Rehbein, a retired physician hired by the Miccosukee tribal council to direct a community action program.

"We have to really work to convince them that these things are good for them," he said. "The vast majority would like to go back to the old way."

And he added: "Frankly, the old way is better than anything we have to offer."

But the white man is crowding the Miccosukee, even in his desolate Everglades retreat, and he is being forced to change his ways.

A huge jetport is being built in the swamps a few miles west of the encampments on the Tamiami trail—U.S. Highway 41—where most of the 450 Miccosukees live.

Most bitterly oppose the jetport, fearing it will destroy ancient hunting grounds.

The Miccosukees, who fled into the swamps after warring with the U.S. government in the 1840's and have yet to sign a peace treaty, also are frustrated by the regulations of a flood control district.

Rapidly growing Miami encroaches from the east.

The Miccosukees decline to live on reservations and their older children have trouble adjusting to the high schools many attend in the Miami area, said Rehbein.

But progress is being made. He said the children are learning to use a knife and fork, learning English nursery rhymes and learning about men such as George Washington for the first time in a new Head Start program.

In a primitive setting where dress often reflects attitudes, Rehbein recounts the first time a 12-year-old brave—dressed in full medicine man regalia—walked into a Head Start class. Said Rehbein: "It was like landing on the moon for us."

Wash Both Sides

It's best to wash both sides of a foam-backed vinyl place mat, because a stain which appears to be on the vinyl side may actually be imbedded in the foam. A vegetable brush dipped in soap or detergent suds makes an effective scrubber for this purpose.

Lowly Padres Make Sweep on Dodgers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated Press Sports Writer

With friends like the San Diego Padres, who needs enemies? Certainly not the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"They (the Dodgers) were friendly when they came here, but they aren't any more," observed an Diego skipper Preston Gomez after his lowly Padres rallied to beat the Los Angeles 4-2 Sunday and sweep the four-game series, dropping the Dodgers from third to fourth place in the National League West and jolting their flag hopes.

Many Padres used to be members of the Dodger family, but the only family they resembled over the weekend was the Cosa Nostra. Consider:

- Buzzie Bavasi, president of the Padres, spent his entire baseball career in the Dodger organization, serving as vice president and general manager from 1951 through 1968.
- Field manager Gomez was a Dodger coach the last four seasons.
- San Diego pitching coach Roger Craig was a Dodger hurler during seven seasons and later scouted and managed in the minors for them.
- Coach Sparky Anderson, Dodger outfielder from 1959-65 and helped them to three world championships.
- Coach Sparky Anderson spent six years as an infielder in the Dodger chain.
- Broadcaster Duke Snider was one of the all-time Dodger greats, roaming the outfield from 1948-62 and setting a club record of 43 home runs in 1956.
- Despite the four-game shock treatment, the Dodgers trail first-place San Francisco by only 2 1/2 games. The Giants lead Cincinnati by 1 1/2 games and Atlanta by two.
- Elsewhere in the NL, Atlanta drubbed Cincinnati 7-3, Houston nipped San Francisco 7-6, Pittsburgh took Chicago 7-5 in 11 innings, trimming the Cubs' East Division lead by 2 1/2 games over the New York Mets, who wallowed Philadelphia 9-3, and Montreal blanked St. Louis 3-0.
- In the American League, Minnesota blasted Oakland 16-4, Baltimore outlasted Detroit 6-5 in 14 innings, Washington edged Boston 3-2 in 10, Cleveland beat the New York Yankees 7-3, the Chicago White Sox defeated California 4-1 and Seattle shaded Kansas City 7-6 in 10 innings.
- Ed Spiezio's breaking single highlighted a three-run rally in the seventh that carried San Diego past the Dodgers. The Padres trailed 2-1 entering the inning, but Claude Osteen walked Jose Arcia and Roberto Pena doubled him home.
- Al Ferrara—another ex-Dodger—drew an intentional walk before Spiezio singled to break the tie. Clarence Gaston singled home the final run of the inning.
- Relievers Gary Ross and Billy McCool choked off Dodger threats in the eighth and ninth to save the triumph for Al Santorini.
- "I was amused by their change of attitude," Gomez said of his former colleagues. "They were laughing and having fun when they were beating us so bad earlier in the season."
- The Dodgers held a 9-2 edge over the Padres before the sweep, including such lopsided victories as 19-0, 14-0, 11-0 and 10-1.
- "Now they're sore," Gomez continued. "Len Gableston was yelling at our bench saying, 'You donkeys, you don't have any right to beat us.' And Ted Sizemore was getting on Moon, calling him 'Old man.' If they'd lost four straight to San Francisco they'd figure they got beat by a better club, but it killed

Silent Screen Big Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Why shouldn't the winner of the Arlington-Washington Futurity be Silent Screen? The race, like an old movie on television, didn't start until midnight.

Television movie fans didn't get a chance to see Silent Screen. If they had, they might have a new idol.

Shortly after a field of 12 2-year-olds left the post at 12:27 a.m., EDT, Sunday for the $366,075 race at Arlington Park, Sonny Werblin's colt stormed home first, by about eight lengths over Robbins' and Resnegue's Insurbordination.

"We felt we had a good horse, but we really didn't know he was that good," said Johnny Rotz, who rode Silent Screen.

But Rotz must have had a pretty good idea, for he flew to Chicago after finishing eighth and last on Gay Missile Saturday afternoon in the $109,880 Matron stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Belmont Park. It was won by Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Cold Comfort.

The plane trip was certainly worthwhile for Rotz, as Silent Screen earned $206,075 after running the seven furlongs in 1:22 3-5 and returning a winning mutual payoff of $10.40. Favored Insurbordination earned $75,000 and third-place Windy Tide $40,000. Fourth was worth $25,000 to Finance Minister.

them to lose four straight to us."

Orlando Cepeda's two-run double and a two-run error by Tony Perez gave Atlanta four runs in the first inning and the Braves held on as Ron Reed posted his 15th triumph. The Braves scored two more runs in the fourth and Hank Aaron unloaded his 39th homer—and 549th of his career—in the seventh.

Houston fell behind San Francisco 6-0 when the Giants scored all their runs in the first against Don Wilson and Jim Bouton. But Tommy Davis doubled a run home in the last of the fourth and the Astros caught up with five in the sixth, including two-run singles by Davis and pinch hitter Bob Watson. Hector Torres won it in the last of the ninth with a two-out, bases-loaded pinch single.

Matty Alou raved home from second on Don Kessinger's error with one out in the 11th and Richie Hebner singled home an insurance run as the Pirates sent the skidding Cubs to their fourth consecutive defeat. The third-place Pirates are 7 1/2 games out after sweeping the three-game set.

Willie Stargell's homer with two out in the ninth sent the game into extra innings after Jim Hickman's two-run shot in the eighth gave the Cubs a 5-4 lead.

Art Shamsky, who homered earlier, drive in the go-ahead run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh as the Mets whipped the Phillies. Ken Boswell's triple made it 5-3 and the Mets sewed it up with four in the eighth on two run singles by Tommie Agee—who also homered—and Rod Gaspar.

Rusty Staub hit a three-run homer on a 3-0 pitch from Steve Carlton in the third inning for all the game's runs and Montreal's Bill Stoneman blanked the Cards on five hits.

The apostle Thomas was the original "Doubting Thomas."

Killebrew Clobbers Oakland

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

Harmon Killebrew may not be a million laughs, but he's sure killing the Oakland Athletics.

The unassuming and soft-spoken "Killer" exploded two homers, one a grand slam, out of the Oakland Coliseum and drove in seven runs Sunday to lead front-running Minnesota to a 16-4 rout of the A's.

The performance virtually buried Oakland's chances in the American League's West Division race. The Athletics now trail the Twins by 8 1/2 games with about three weeks to go in the regular season.

Killebrew, who boosted his American League-leading RBI total to 128, a personal season high, hammered a three-run homer in the first inning and drilled his grand slam in the second. He had to leave the game, however, after bruising his knee in the fourth inning.

In the other American League games, Baltimore topped Detroit, 6-5, on Mark Belanger's 14th-inning single; Del Unser's two-out homer in the 10th gave Washington a 3-2 victory over Boston; the Cleveland Indians snapped a tie with a run in the seventh and scored three more times in the eighth to beat New York 7-3; Billy Wayne pitched Chicago to a 4-1 victory over California and Seattle rallied for two runs in the 10th inning to nip Kansas City, 7-6.

In the National League, Pittsburgh edged Chicago 7-5, in 11 innings to cut the Cubs' lead to 2 1/2 games over New York in the red-hot East Division fight; the Mets drubbed Philadelphia, 9-3; San Diego stopped Los Angeles for the fourth straight time, 4-2; Atlanta defeated Cincinnati, 7-3; Houston tripped San Francisco 7-6, and Montreal blanked St. Louis, 3-0.

Killebrew's assault on Oakland's pitching staff began in the first inning, when he unloaded a three-run homer, his 41st, off starter Fred Tolbot. Tito Francona, who drove in all of Oakland's runs, tied the score at 3-3 with a three-run double in the first.

Killebrew's 42nd homer, a grand slam off rookie Vida Blue, highlighted a five-run Minnesota second inning that put the game away.

Killebrew left the game in the fourth when he suffered a bruised knee in a home plate collision as he tried to score from second base on a single.

The Killer now has nine homers and 29 RBI in 16 games against Oakland this year.

Belanger's single scored Frank Robinson and Chico Salmon in Baltimore's 14th with the needed cushion to offset a Detroit rally in the bottom of the inning.

Eddie Watt, 5-2, choked off a Tiger rally after they loaded the bases with none out. He threw a double-play ball and got out of the jam with only one run scoring.

The victory pushed the Orioles' lead to 14 1/2 games over the Tigers in the East and reduced their "magic number" to nine. Any combination of nine Baltimore victories or Detroit losses gives the Orioles the division championship.

Unser's homer, his fifth of the season, gave Washington its extra-inning victory over Boston and extended Jim Lonborg's losing streak as a starter to nine games. Frank Howard hit his 44th homer for the Senators.

The Indians scored the go-ahead run on a fielder's choice in the seventh inning and added three more insurance runs in an eighth inning rally highlighted by Jose Cardenal's double to beat the Yankees.

Billy Wynne scattered seven hits and rookie catcher Ed Herrmann drilled three hits, including a homer, as Chicago stopped California, and Wayne Comer's single scored Tommy Harper with the winning run, capping a two-run rally, as Seattle nudged Kansas City in the 10th.

Best In Pinch

NEW YORK (NEA)—Who is the best pinch-hitter in baseball history?

According to the new Baseball Encyclopedia, to be published soon, the honor belongs to Tris Speaker, whose pinch-hitting average was .333 (20-for-60). Roger Bresnahan, a catcher for the old New York Giants, was second with a .317 mark (20-for-63).

Babe Ruth, baseball's all-time home run leader, was not so effective in pinch roles, however. He hit only .194 (12-for-67).

Hope Loses Opener of Grid Season

By RALPH ROUNTON Star Sports Writer

Breaks are the name of the game, and the Ashdown Panthers used them handily last Friday night in ruining another Hope opener to the tune of 14-6.

For the Bobcats, something went wrong somewhere. It remains to be seen if the team can snap out of it, but hopefully the five-year tradition of losing season at Hope will end in 1969. Surely losing the first game doesn't ruin the entire year, but it can and has frustrated potentially good teams into horrible records.

Two alternatives face the Cats: (1) All the preseason leadership and attitude can disappear and cause another losing autumn, or (2) the team can realize its weaknesses, work to improve them, and finish with the best possible results.

That's putting it bluntly, but the second choice does have precedent. Consider Malvern's Leopards in 1968.

Favorites in their opener with Hot Springs last fall, Malvern got two punts blocked and fumbled away a 12-0 defeat. That could have finished the Leopards and their 1-2-1 mark was not impressive as they opened play in 4-AA West at our own Hammons Stadium against the Bobcats.

Malvern beat Hope 21-0 on three first-half TD's by All-State speedster Connell Williams, and from there it was a success story. The Leopards ran through the Western Division schedule unbeaten, wrapping it up with a 14-13 conquest of mighty Fairview in the finale.

Magnolia whipped them 35-13 last Thanksgiving for the 4-AA Championship, but the story of Malvern's comeback was a fairly tale. Nobody could have touched Magnolia's 13-0 champions, but the Leopards proved they could come back.

Bobcat Head Coach Ronnie Higgins is forgetting Ashdown, realizing that feeling sorry for yourself doesn't make you a winner.

Prescott comes to Hammons Stadium for our home opener this Friday night, the day the Star's Football Edition comes out. The Curley Wolves, after losing 12-6 at Stamps, will be as desperate to win as the Bobcats, and the Hope-Prescott rivalry has grown into a real battle each September.

Tonight at 7:30 p.m. and Cats' "B" squad opens its '69 campaign at home against Camden's reserves, and the Hope team played to a 5-3-1 record last year. These "B" games develop the experience of the sophs and juniors, and actually will provide some needed help on Friday night before the season is over.

Then on Thursday evening Coach Gaylord Solomon's Bobkittens get started at Hammons Stadium, facing a much-improved team from Prescott. Many starters from last year's 6-1 squad are sophs now, but the Kittens have potential and are looking forward to their eight-game schedule.

Dance to Follow Prescott Game

There will be a dance at the Hope Youth Center, Friday night, Sept. 12, following the Hope-Prescott football game. The band will be the Sole Society. The band will play from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Nothing to Brag About

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Cletus Paul had nothing to brag about for a final score but had two stupendous moments Sunday during the annual Burlington Knights of Columbus Golf Tournament.

Teeling up at No. 8, he holed in one shot over 188 yards. On No. 16, the same thing happened, giving him two holes-in-one.

Paul's score for the round? A 95, 21 strokes off Mike Welch's winning pace.

Grid Cards Beat 49ers by 21 to 10

By SHEILA MORAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Charley Johnson, who for the last two seasons needed a weekend pass to throw a forward pass, is throwing them fulltime now—and throwing them well.

Johnson, his Army obligations behind him, threw for two touchdowns and ran for another, in pacing the St. Louis Cardinals to a 21-10 exhibition football victory over the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

The 49ers took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter, but their passing attack was marred as quarterback Steve Spurrier ran into five interceptions. Spurrier went all the way while regular starter John Brodie nursed a sore back.

The victory increased the Cardinals' record to 3-2 and extended the 49ers' losing streak to five straight games.

The 49ers face the Los Angeles Rams, buoyant over their 50-20 victory over Buffalo, in a grudge game next weekend.

"We put it all together for the first time," Rams' Coach George Allen said after the Buffalo debacle Saturday. "We're ready to roll. This kind of win was good for the team's morale."

The Rams, who scored six touchdowns, also ruined O.J. Simpson's homecoming. In his first hometown appearance as a pro, the sensational running back from Southern Cal dropped a screen pass and stepped out of bounds on a kickoff return that trimmed an 85-yard touchdown run into a 41-yard pass play. O.J. gained 20 yards in seven carries.

Deacon Jones was the Rams' prime defensive spoiler.

In Dallas, meanwhile, 74,771 fans turned hostile when Joe Namath decided to rest an injured left knee and forego his Cotton Bowl debut, but they found another hero in Roger Staubach, the quarterback of the great Navy teams of the 1960s, who directed the Cowboys to a 25-9 triumph over the New York Jets.

Staubach came off the bench in the second period, after starter Craig Morton dislocated his right index finger. With four seconds remaining in the half, the 28-year-old rookie scrambled for a touchdown that gave the Cowboys a 10-9 lead they never lost and later engineered the Cowboys' two other touchdowns.

In other games Saturday, the Kansas City Chiefs wound up their exhibition season undefeated and tied in six games with a 14-10 decision over the stubborn Atlanta Falcons, 2-3; the Green Bay Packers, 3-2, upended the Pittsburgh Steelers, 1-3, 31-10; The Minnesota Vikings, 4-1, nipped the New York Giants, 0-4, 28-27; the Cleveland Browns, 3-1-1, scalped the Washington Redskins, 2-3, 20-10 and the Houston Oilers, 3-2, pounded the New Orleans Saints, 2-3, 30-14.

The Detroit Lions, 4-1, shaded the Philadelphia Eagles, 2-2, 23-21; the Cincinnati Bengals, 3-2, edged the Denver Broncos, 1-4, 13-11 and the Miami Dolphins, 1-5, blanked the Boston Patriots, 2-3, 13-0.

Len Dawson passed for a Chiefs' touchdown and tackle Curly Culp ran an intercepted pass six yards for the second but the Chiefs didn't seal their victory until the last four minutes, when Bobby Bell intercepted a Falcons' pass.

Travis "Road Runner" Williams provided the heroics for Green Bay, running for two touchdowns in the Packers' sparkling second half offensive show.

The Giants and Vikings both dashed pre-game speculation that they would play close-vested, since they meet in the National Football League opener in New York Sept. 21.

"We played as hard as we could. We tried to win and we almost did." Reserve running back Bill Harris set up the winning touchdown when he raced a kickoff return 75 yards to the Giants, 27.

Don Cockroft clinched the victory for Cleveland with his second field goal in the fading seconds of the game.

Houston's defense accounted for three touchdowns and rookie Roy Gerela kicked three field goals. For New Orleans, "it was a bad night all around" as Saints' Coach Tom Fears put it.

A 95-yard touchdown run on an interception by Lem Barney and three field goals by Errol Mann keyed the victory for Detroit.

Rookie Greg Cook, who completed a 79-yard touchdown pass, and Dale Livingston, who booted two field goals, meant the difference for the Bengals while quarterback Bob Griese and kicker Carl Krenser paced Miami to its first preseason victory of the year.

Moody Wins World Series of Golf

By HAL PARIS Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Orville Moody never had it so good as an Army sergeant playing amateur golf.

The second-year pro from Killeen, Tex., came on strong Sunday with a three-under par 67 for a two-stroke victory in the World Series of Golf.

His 36-hole score of 141 earned him $50,000 and pushed him near the $130,000 mark for the year in unofficial winning.

The 35-year-old Moody didn't come close to that figure in 14 years with the Army.

"From the fourth hole on, I felt I would take it. I was hitting everything good," the modest Texan said.

But he praised runnerup George Archer "who played the best, but he couldn't hole any putts."

Archer, the towering Californian who won the Masters, finished with a 69 for 143 while first-round leader Ray Floyd was slipping to a 73 for a tie with Tony Jacklin of London, England, at 145.

Archer's second-place finish was worth $15,000 while PGA titlist Floyd and British Open champ Jacklin, who shot a 72, split $12,500.

Moody, who played almost flawless golf with 15 pars and three birds, said he putted better than at any time he's been on the tour.

Moody said he still cherished his victory in the U.S. Open more than anything else.

Chevrolet Makes It 5 in a Row

By BLOYS BRITT AP Auto Racing Writer

Unless there is a complete washout of his Camaros in the final two races, Philadelphia's Roger Penske will deliver to his backers a second Trans-Am road racing title this season.

Ron Bucknum, a 30-year-old all-purpose driver from California, made it five in a row for Penske's sleek blue cars at Kent, Wash., Sunday when he won the ninth event in the 11-race series for small, sporty sedans.

Bucknum's first place finish gave Chevrolet a 76-62 point lead over Ford's Mustang in the series in which the top trophy goes to the manufacturer. Camaro now needs only a third place finish in either of the final two races to lock up its second title in a row.

Meantime, Dodge drivers scored three times during the weekend and wealthy A. J. Foyt put another $19,500 into his bank account when he won the world's richest dirt track race, the Hoosier Hundred, at Indianapolis Saturday.

Bobby Allison, a 32-year-old Catholic layman from Hueytown, Ala., started his red and gold Dodge Charger in last place in a 250-mile NASCAR Grand National race at Richmond, Va., and went on to win his fourth victory of the season Sunday.

Don White, Dodge's top Midwestern driver, beat Ford's Bobby Unser to the finish line by 58 seconds in a 250-mile United States Auto Club feature at Milwaukee after leading the final 70 laps.

Bobby Isaac started the Dodge parade when he won a 100-mile at Hickory, N.C., Friday night for his 13th NASCAR triumph of the year, all on short tracks.

Bucknum, winning his second Trans-Am victory, finished more than a minute ahead of a Mustang driven by old pro Panelli Jones. Mark Donohue of Meda, Pa., Penske's top driver with four Trans-Am wins, made only 33 laps before blowing his engine.

Foyt gave a crowd of 24,562 a lesson in dirt track driving as he forged ahead of Mario Andretti on the 47th lap at Indianapolis and won going away. The event for USAC championship cars was televised live by the ABC network.

Gary Bettenhausen, a second-generation driver, finished second ahead of Bobby Unser, while Al Unser was fourth.

Rod Laver's Grand Slam Is Greatest

By Will Grimsley
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Australia's Rod Laver went after his 30th straight match victory and the last leg of a pro grand slam in the U. S. Open Tennis Championships and it's only natural fans have begun asking:

Is this little Queenslander with the lightning reflexes and steel-trap left wrist the greatest tennis player who ever lived?

"A lot of people say so—players who saw Bill Tilden, Don Budge and Jack Kramer," said Pancho Gonzales, a onetime undisputed king of the sport now entering a new business venture as a director of a proposed network of indoor court facilities.

"Before making a judgment, I'd like to see him against a man like Lew Hoad or Don Budge."

Laver won't face either of these court giants of another era. Instead he was set to meet a fellow Australian seven years his junior and a fellow left-hander, Tony Roche, on the center court of the West Side Tennis Club at 12 noon, EDT, with the $16,000 first prize at stake.

Laver qualified for the title round by quickly winning two remaining games from Arthur Ashe Jr., the defending champion in the match that had been called Friday because of darkness. The final score was 6-6, 6-3, 14-12.

Roche outlasted a fellow Australian, second-seeded John Newcombe, in a three-hour struggle waged in intense humidity. The score was 3-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Roche, 24, born and reared in a small outback community of 300 residents in New South Wales, has a 5-2 record against Laver this year and 6-3 since he turned professional two years ago.

But nobody has beaten the red-haired Rocket of Rockhampton since Newcombe turned the trick at Queen's Club in London, a Wimbledon prep, last June.

Rams to Play Colts on Sept. 21

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams are no different from most of the other professional football teams. They'll be glad when the summer exhibition season is over and it is play-for-keeps time in the National Football League.

Los Angeles opens the title schedule in Baltimore against the Colts, Sept. 21.

Coach George Allen, meanwhile, is still evaluating some of his rookies as well as a few veterans. Most of the latter he doesn't have to evaluate.

Allen regards his quarterback, Roman Gabriel, as among the best, if not the best, in the business. He also has confidence in Gabe's backup, Karl Sweetan.

The defense is generally regarded as one of the best in the NFL with a front four of Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen, Oger Brown and Lamar Lundy, provided the latter can take up where he left off after knee surgery last year. If Lamar can't, Gregg Schumacher is quite adequate.

On offense, Los Angeles has depth in running backs. The problem here is will they remain healthy. Veterans Tommy Mason and Les Josephson have had leg troubles and scooter Dick Bass at 32 is getting no younger.

The Rams' No. 1 rookie back from Florida, Larry Smith, has been impressive thus far, and Willie Ellison and Mike Dennis remain potential stars. Another rookie, Jeff Jordan, remains in the picture, along with ex-Philadelphia Eagle Izzy Lang.

Jack Snow is superb as a deep receiver and the Rams are still mourning the loss to the military of another catcher from Notre Dame, Jim Seymour.

At tight end are Billy Truax, Dave Pivec and another No. 1 rookie draftee, Bob Klein from Southern California.

Veteran Bruce Gossett will do the place kicking but David Ray, a rookie from Alabama, is making a bid for the job. Pat Studstill is the punter as well as a wide receiver.

All-Pro Eddie Meador at roving safety is the key to the Rams' secondary. And he's a great one to key around.

Rams At A Glance
1968 finish — Second in Coastal Division.
1968 record — 10-3-1.
Probable 1969 finish — First or second.

Team's strong points — Defensive and offensive lines.
Team's weakness — Injury-prone running backs.
Best rookies — Running back Larry Smith, tight end Bob Klein, offensive guard Mike LaHood.

School Supt. Jones Addresses Rotarians

College Boy Is Freed by Czechs

PRAGUE (AP) — Douglas Burke, 20-year-old sophomore at Boston College in Massachusetts was freed from a Czechoslovak jail today. He was arrested 18 days ago during Prague demonstrations on the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion.

Superintendent of Schools James H. Jones presented a comprehensive look at the Hope School System for the program at the Hope Rotary Club luncheon meeting last Friday at the Town and Country. He said that Special Education will be taught at all levels this year, and he explained the general academic program as well as the one for vocational education.

"Making better citizens is the goal of any school," he said, "and the good attitude of the public plus a well-operating board of education can help the teachers to carry this out."

An over-all enrollment this year will be about 2,800 pupils with some 1,000 at Hope High. Transportation will be furnished by 22 buses. An economic survey of families with students in local schools is now being taken, and periodically during the year a re-evaluation of teachers and pupils alike will be taken to determine if and where any changes in procedure need to be made.

Club President Benny Coleman had charge of the meeting and welcomed the members and one visiting Rotarian, John T. McRae of Prescott.

Appeal in Auto Death Is Denied

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court today dismissed an appeal of a large judgment arising from the death of a Benton postal worker because the case was settled out of court for a reported $215,000.

Mrs. Dorothy E. Carter of Benton and her children brought the action against Warden Volkswagen Co. Inc. of Little Rock and Shelton Earl Mosby, a Warden employee, in the death of her husband, William D. Carter, in a two-vehicle collision Aug. 14, 1967.

A Saline County jury had awarded the Carters $534,000, an amount reduced by Circuit Court Judge Henry B. Means of Malvern to $268,298.

Warden appealed the judgment.

Mrs. Carter's lawsuit alleged that Mosby was negligent in running a stop sign at an intersection in Pulaski County.

The state Supreme Court also affirmed a decision of a Circuit Court at Texarkana which dismissed a lawsuit brought by H. K. Faulkinbury and Faulkinbury Food Store Inc.

The suit sought $5,000 from United States Fire Insurance Co., which had sold Faulkinbury a policy including insurance against damages suits for false arrest.

New Miss America Is Conservative

By JANET STAHAR
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The new Miss America, Pamela Ann Eldred, says she likes sincere men and believes in the authority of her elders.

The 21-year-old Michigan blonde today leaves the resort city where she was crowned Miss America 1970 on Saturday night for a trip to New York City. There she will begin nine days of wardrobe fittings to prepare for personal appearance tours.

She began the first day of her reign Sunday with a news conference, where she was asked to describe the ideal man.

"A sincere one," she said, "One who puts the interest of others ahead of his."

On the subject of campus disputes, she said, "I'm a firm believer in authority. I have a mind of my own, but why should I defy my elders just for the sake of defying them, if I know they're right?"

A green-eyed natural blonde from the Detroit suburb of Birmingham, she will have to postpone for a year her studies at Mercy College of Detroit, where she is a speech and drama major.

She has been the lead dancer for the Detroit City Ballet, and hopes for a Broadway musical career. Her singing voice is "loud enough to project throughout a theater," she said.

The 5-foot-9½ beauty is a trim 110 pounds on a 34-21-34 frame. She said she maintains her figure without dieting.

Unlike its African cousin, the Asiatic elephant lies down to rest.

This land is your land. Ours, too.

AP&L people picnic, fish and hunt to enjoy the outdoors just like you.

And the donation of an area for the State fish hatchery on Lake Hamilton.

That's why we're glad to have a part in opening up camping grounds, recreation areas, wildlife preserves and acres for better environment all over the place.

They're typical of our participation in projects for conservation and improvement of Arkansas' great natural resources.

Just remember. We live here, too.

Like our gift of over 1100 acres of land for the development which is now Lake Catherine State Park near Hot Springs.

We do everything in our power to help.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
 The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

 1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude Mc-Corkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line:

 1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.

 1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

 1883 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.

 1884 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W.
 Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

 1916 — Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald
 — but both papers suspended in 1922.

 1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly
 Hempstead County Review.

 1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

 1929 — C.E. Palmer and A.H.
 Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

 1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

 1969 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

Oswald: "Victor Mollo's book, 'How Good Is Your Bridge?', is a series of problems in play. Most of these problems occur at trick one or trick two and illustrate the value of thinking through before getting started with your play."

Jim: "Here's one that every declarer should know but that most declarers go wrong on. We aren't concerned with the merits of the bidding. South is in three trump after a spade overcall by East. West opens the nine of spades and it is up to South to play from dummy."

Oswald: "If the 10 of spades is played, East covers with the jack. If the seven is played, East lets the nine ride. In the first case South can still make his contract by letting East hold the trick with the jack, since it turns out that West holds the ace of clubs. In the case of the play of the seven spot from dummy, West can shift to a heart and beat declarer with two spades, two hearts and a club."

 Jim: "The point is that if the king of spades is played from dummy, declarer is going to wind up making at least four no-trump regardless of who holds the ace of clubs."

 Oswald: "Exactly. This is one of the standard times when the play of second hand high is correct. The nine of spades lead has marked East with both the ace and jack.
 Once the king is played from dummy, East can do nothing to defeat the no-trump game.
 If he continues spades South lets the lead ride to dummy's 10. If he leads anything else declarer wins the trick and goes about his business of knocking out the ace of clubs."

Q—My son, 13, is overweight and tires very easily.

 I took thyroid pills all the time I was carrying him. Do you think he could have a thyroid deficiency?

A—Thyroid deficiency in childhood may result from thyroid medication taken by the mother during pregnancy. Tests of thyroid function should be made on your son so that, if needed, he may be treated without further delay.

Q—My little boy frequently tells me he is cold. He will lie down for 10 or 15 minutes, then say he is all right.

 The doctor can't find anything wrong with him. What could cause this?

 A—This may be a sign of thyroid deficiency, anemia or fatigue. Let your doctor make further tests to determine the cause.

Q—My 27-month-old daughter talked very well until recently, but now she has started to stutter. What can be done to stop this?

A—All children stutter when they are excited. It is only when parents or teachers call their attention to this that they become self-conscious about their speech.

 When your daughter stutters, you should listen quietly without any show of concern. If she doesn't outgrow the habit by the time she is 6, she may have to have speech therapy.

Q—Our daughter, 2, sucks her thumb. We would like to nip this habit in the bud.

 What do you advise?

A—Since a happy child who feels she is well-loved will outgrow this habit before she reaches school age, the best treatment is to ignore the habit but not the child.

Scott Bids for Senate GOP Chief

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania stands as the likeliest immediate successor to GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, but a power struggle over the next 16 months may determine the ultimate leader of Senate Republicans.

Scott was elected assistant GOP leader, or whip, by a narrow 23-20 vote in January and became acting party leader last week when Dirksen was hospitalized. With Dirksen's death Sunday, Scott is considered certain to seek the post on a full-time basis.

But Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, a conservative who serves as chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, made clear last week he expected a share of leadership duties during Dirksen's illness.

Allott, 62, could become a rival to Scott for the top job, or a candidate for whip.

But whoever moves into the minority leader's front-row desk and inherits his spacious, chambered office just off the Senate floor is unlikely to have the power and force Dirksen had accumulated in his 10-year leadership.

For one thing, the position is less important now with a Republican in the White House than it was during Democratic administrations.

Unlike the Democrats, whose leader Mike Mansfield is also head of the party's policy committee and conference, the Republicans have a more fragmented set-up.

Thus, a collective leadership is possible until a strong man emerges, possibly not until after

Nixon to Return to Washington

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon wound up a month's vacation at the Western White House today. He took off at 8:57 a.m. in Air Force One on a roundabout, two-stop aerial route back to Washington.

The President waved gallily to a small group of about 75 persons, mainly U.S. servicemen, as he boarded his jet at El Toro Marine Air Station after helicoptering from his home at nearby San Clemente.

Mrs. Nixon, in a red and white dress, and daughters Julie Eisenhower, in green and white, and Tricia, in pink, accompanied him.

Back in a capital saddened by the death Sunday of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen there will be an immediate gap in the President's schedule. The regular Tuesday morning meeting with Republican congressional leaders was canceled.

Nixon called Dirksen a "great American—a legislator of matchless skills, and my warm personal friend."

In his office at the Western White House compound Nixon huddled Sunday with his chief adviser on national security, Henry A. Kissinger. They were looking at all aspects of the three-day cease-fire North Vietnam ordered in commemoration of its dead president, Ho Chi Minh—a cease-fire South Vietnam rejected.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler declined to say what the ultimate American reaction might be. He said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, was assessing the situation and would make recommendations to Nixon in the light of activities since the enemy announced a cease-fire starting today.

The Nixon-Diaz Ordaz meeting comes at Amistad—Spanish for "Friendship"—Dam spanning the Rio Grande about midway of the Texas border with Mexico.

The 254-foot high dam, concrete in the middle, earth at the ends, stretches for six miles. It will create a reservoir, about one-fifth full now, with a capacity equivalent of 5,586,000 acres of water one foot deep.

Mexico and the United States are splitting the $80 million cost according to the reservoir area in each country—about 44-56.

Amistad is designed to help tame floods which periodically have brought death and damage through the years along the Rio Grande and its tributaries.

By misdeeds Nixon was to be back on Air Force One for his aerial survey of the sections of Louisiana and Mississippi that got the full blast of the the 1970 congressional elections which could give Republicans control of the Senate for the first time in 16 years.

The choice will be made by the 42 Republican senators—plus Dirksen's successor if he is appointed by then—at a party conference. But Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the conference chairman, declined to say how soon this might take place.

When Scott defeated Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, a close ally of Dirksen, in what was primarily a liberal-conservative fight for the whip's job, most of the younger Senate Republicans supported Scott.

While they might back the 68-year-old Pennsylvanian for the leadership now, they are likely to leave their options open for the start of the next Congress in January 1971.

Less than a majority of GOP senators now, their ranks by then might be augmented as in 1965 and 1968.

Although Scott supported New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the GOP presidential nomination against Nixon, he is a loyal party man who served as national party chairman two decades ago and has been an administration stalwart in the Senate.

A more long-range possibility for the leadership is Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas, a 49-year-old moderate who bucked the administration in the anti-ballistic missile fight.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, 45, challenged Allott for the policy chairmanship last January but was defeated. Other possibilities include Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, 43, a conservative who heads the party's senatorial campaign committee, and Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee, also 43, a moderate who was Dirksen's son-in-law.

Scheduling of bills and nominations is cleared with the minority leader. And the man who holds the job gets, along with that big office, an extra staff, the same $7,500 additional salary—above the normal $42,000—and chauffeur-driven limousine as the majority leader.

are drenched with the literature of fear and doubt. Survival has become the main theme."

Early in the Eisenhower administration, Adlai Stevenson—the presidential candidate defeated in 1952—called the administration "dreary."

Dirksen countered with: "Quite often Adlai has a sense of fitness in selecting his adjectives. Dreary is the word. It is no glamorous or dramatic adjective to cleanse the temple of government of its defilement, indicating grafters and bootlickers of the 22 major scandals of the Truman administration . . . it goes forward with vigor even though it be a dreary job."

Everything about him added to the image. His face, florid and lumpy, could be sad, piteous, sly, melodramatic, startled—whatever punctuation his speech at the time demanded. And always there was the hair—wispy, white, always looking as if he had just stepped from a speedy convertible.

"If you have some kind of trademark like unruly hair, people get to recognize you," he said.

Even when he was in the hospital—which was often—Dirksen managed to get in his thrusts. In 1964 he had missed a week of debate leading to a tax cut bill. His words were later related to the Senate:

"Perhaps you can imagine my bed-ridden amazement, my pajama-ruffled consternation, yes my pillow-laden astonishment this week, to learn that three Republican-sponsored proposals to assist in achieving laudable goals had been defeated by very narrow margins, victims of that new White House telephonic half-nelson known as the 'Texas twist.'"

Like a consummate actor, Dirksen used body English to accompany his stentorian, sonorous, mellifluous tones. In one speech there was mention of choreographer and the Senate was treated to the delightful sight of the portly Dirksen tip-toeing like a ballet dancer, twirling around the floor.

When he wanted to quiet a crowd, Dirksen would spread both hands in front of him, palms down, and gaze off into space as if communing with far-off, unseen spirits.

"Overemphasis," he explained, "reminds me of the preacher who sprinkled the margins of his sermon with instructions addressed to himself—cues like 'argument weak here; shout like hell.'"

Finger-pointing, he explained, should be held in reserve for special occasions. One such occasion was the 1952 GOP convention when he was backing Sen. Robert A. Taft for the presidential nomination while Thom-

Poverty Plan Produces Big Loan Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department has dispatched an investigator to Florida to examine the causes of a record multimillion dollar loss on a government loan intended to create jobs in a poverty area.

"We're checking it out," said Jack Beddow, chief counsel of the Economic Development Administration, an arm of the Commerce Department. "I sent a lawyer down to Florida to look at the records."

Over a six-year period, the government invested a total of $5.4 million in Coastal Products Inc., which got the aid to build and operate a wood products plant at Blountstown, in Florida's Panhandle.

The factory, to provide 150 jobs, was in operation less than two years. When Coastal Products filed for bankruptcy the government foreclosed, then sold the idle plant this summer to another firm for $3.1 million.

The $2.3 million loss, according to a survey of loan-granting agencies, is the largest ever on a federal loan to private enterprise in the United States.

The EDA is a successor to the Area Redevelopment Administration, established in the early years of the Kennedy administration to spur economic development in rural areas.

The initial Coastal Products aid was a $2.8 million ARA loan arranged with the help of Rep. Don Fuqua, D-Fla., whose district includes Blountstown.

Fuqua said he pressed for government approval of the Coastal Products loan because some of his constituents had invested in the plant. The congressman himself had purchased $1,000 stock in an industrial development corporation which joined the government in financing the factory.

"Looking back," Fuqua said in an interview, "I would have checked into it more than I did. Hindsight's 20-20."

At the Commerce Department, a similar view is expressed. "In hindsight, we should have done some things differently," one official said. Coastal Products was in financial trouble almost from the start. It quickly ran into a working capital squeeze, had difficulty finding trained employees and bought expensive machinery found to be inadequate.

When the firm fell behind on its interest payments on the first loan, the government responded by pouring in more money, hoping to rescue its initial investment.

As a condition for the original loan, the government had insisted Coastal Products give it, as collateral, liens on 2,800 acres of land the company owned in Florida. Yet before they had left Washington, the government released the liens.

Records disclosed that Coastal Products sold one 320-acre tract to its board chairman, Finley McMillan, who quickly resold the land for more than twice what he paid for it.

U.S. Atty. Clinton Ashmore raised the question of land transactions at a bankruptcy creditors hearing, but said later he is not pursuing the matter until instructed otherwise by Washington.

The bankruptcy referred to in Coastal Products case, Robert M. Ervin, also raised at a hearing the question of preferential treatment of the firm's creditors.

Modern Homes Construction Co. of Valdosta, Ga., whose officers held key posts in Coastal Products, was the only lender paid off before Coastal Products filed for bankruptcy, records showed. Its $61,500 loan was secured by a lien on wallboard produced by the Florida firm.

as E. Dewey—twice defeated candidate—was pulling for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

From the rostrum, the Dirksen hand shot out, diamond glittering on one finger. Pointing straight at Dewey, Dirksen belted: "We followed you before and you took us down the road to defeat."

Dirksen spoke angrily about "the anarchy of mob conduct" in America and spoke about "the strange ferment and turbulence of today's youth."

Of war protesters he said "they do not burn draft cards behind the barn or in the cellar. There must be a network camera around or it isn't successful."

His first recording venture was a reading of history. He ended it by reciting the Pledge of Allegiance, explaining afterward:

"I think I would die unhappy unless I made some contribution to putting America, and particularly young America, back into the stream of tradition."

Scott Hits News Media on 'Walk'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Col. Ralph Scott, director of the State Police, was critical Sunday of the news media for its coverage of the "walk against fear," saying it had been "over reported."

Scott said in a television interview over Little Rock Station KTHV that the walk by

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Lance "Sweet Willie Wine" Watson Aug. 19-24 through Eastern Arkansas was a "puny effort."

"The principle involved amounted to very little," Scott said.

He said the coverage of the walk by the news media had given Watson "stature he didn't have before."

But Scott later said the media couldn't have ignored the march completely.

5 Held in Arms Raid at King Center

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Five persons were arrested and an arsenal of weapons and a quantity of narcotics confiscated today in a raid by about 125 heavily armed policemen at the Martin Luther King Memorial Center and other locations.

Those arrested included Charles "Poppy" Sharp, controversial leader of Camden's Black People's Unity Movement.

Public Safety Director Harold Melleby, who led the raids, said Sharp was charged with inciting a riot, possession of deadly weapons, violation of the state's crime act, possession of narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police said the raiders confiscated at the center a half-dozen machetes, four home-made spears and "war axes," bows and arrows with "Killer tips," a .22 caliber automatic pistol and a shotgun. The four others—three men and a woman—were picked up at their homes. Forty-three bags of heroin and three ounces of marijuana also were confiscated, Melleby said.

Melleby said the arrests stemmed from racial violence last week in which a white policeman and a teenage Negro girl were shot to death.

He said the four others faced a variety of charges in connection with last week's disorders.

He added a sixth man who was arrested along with the others escaped before being brought to headquarters, Melleby added.

Poverty Program — for the Poor, or for the Politicians?

That government never does a job as well as private business does it is well known to all citizens of a republic—nevertheless today's report that government bunters and their private business puppets cost the taxpayers a record 2.3 million loss in a Florida poverty program venture is hard to take.

It is especially hard to take when it merely adds to the debt of an already overburdened federal government.

The project was Coastal Products, Inc., set up at Blountstown in the Florida Panhandle in 1963 as a woods products factory to be manned by the jobless poor.

The factory six years later stands idle with a sign posted: "No Help Wanted."

Apparently it got too much help at the top for there to be any job opportunities at the bottom. The government made a big loan—then attempted to bail the venture out with a second loan. A Florida congressman had a conflict of interest from the beginning, being both congressman and a stockholder and director in the project. A Florida senator was prevailed upon to intervene in the closing months and obtain a second government loan—everything eventually going down the drain.

Can you blame the taxpayers if they are beginning to suspect that many of the social ventures engaged in by a debt-ridden government are promoted less for the benefit of the helpless poor and more for help-yourself politicians?

I'm through. You can add any thoughts you may have.

Texas in Turn Helps Mississippi

GOULD, Ark. (AP) — A helping hand offered the hurricane-devastated town of Port O'Connor, Tex., in 1961 is in turn being offered by Port O'Connor residents to victims of Hurricane Camille.

Postmaster Hugh Hawes of Port O'Connor has informed Postmaster L. D. Spurlock in Gould that the Port O'Connor recreation association has begun a drive to raise $3,000 to help refugees on the Mississippi Gulf coast.

Ken Clark, president of the association, said that by helping the victims of Camille "we will be showing our gratitude for the generosity of the farmers of Gould," who made a cash gift of $3,037 to Port O'Connor in 1961.

Gould soybean growers assessed themselves a pro rata share of their unharvested crop in 1961.

Pollution Is No. 1 Threat to Water

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Pollution is one of the greatest dangers to the nation's ground and surface water supply, two water resources specialists agreed today.

Charles F. Luce of New York, chairman of the National Water Commission, and former Asst. Interior Secretary Carl L. Klein of Washington, spoke at the Ground Water Resources Institute seminar at Winrock Farms, home of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who is a member of the institute's Board of Trustees.

Luce said the commission would recommend legislation "to provide an adequate legal mechanism for the management of ground water resources in the most intelligent way."

Luce and Klein agreed that ocean water eventually would play a larger role in replenishing the nation's fresh water supply.

Klein said that most of the same types of pollutants that affect surface water eventually would affect ground water with greater impact and longer lasting harm.

He identified pollutants as surface disposal of domestic and industrial waste, seepage from septic tanks, mine drainage, deep well disposal and saline water intrusion.

Death Poses New Crisis at Belfast

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A new explosion of violence threatened in Belfast today, and British troops moved into the center of the city after a young Protestant was killed during an apparent gasoline bomb attack on a Catholic home.

Army officials said the man was killed by unknown gunmen firing from a car. A companion was wounded and taken to a hospital. Police said windows of the house were broken and three unexploded gasoline bombs lay near the dead man's body.

Neighbors identified him as Jack Todd, 23, a member of a Protestant "peace patrol." Several policemen have been patrolling Belfast since last month's riots.

An angry Protestant crowd gathered after the shooting and army patrols rushed to the scene, but Joseph McKeague, chairman of the Shankill Defense Association, a militant Protestant group, persuaded the crowd to disperse.

The army said it was leaving the investigation to the Royal Ulster Constabulary which posted men armed with automatic weapons at each end of the street. The police said they were treating the case as murder at this stage.

The shooting took place in a district in west Belfast where both Protestants and Roman Catholics live. The area has been one of the flashpoints in recent riots and today some Catholics were hurriedly moving their furniture and going to refugee centers or exclusively Catholic areas.

As another week of tension and economic strain began in Northern Ireland, there were more barricades on the streets.

For the first time in the capital, British troops fired tear gas cartridges Sunday at a Protestant crowd of about 3,000 that threatened to invade a Catholic district.

The jeering crowd ignored demands to move back behind their barricades but scattered when the gas went off.

The clash was the first between British troops and the Northern Irish since the army moved in to take control after the fighting last month between Catholics and Protestants.

A pub, two liquor stores and a factory were hit by fire bombs during the weekend but police figured these were hothead attacks. Another pub was hit by a gasoline bomb in east Belfast early today after most crowds had left the streets.

The new barricades, some of them within 100 yards of the City Hall, appeared to mark a new stage in the confrontation in the capital. Protestants erected many of them, apparently as a counter to Catholic barricades that have blocked off some districts for three weeks.

More than 20 of Belfast's double decker buses have been seized and jammed across streets. All bus service has been suspended, adding to the economic strain.

AP Man Is Expelled by Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government today expelled Fenton Wheeler, the Associated Press correspondent in Havana, and gave him and his wife two hours to pack for departure.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government said it objected to Wheeler's reporting in general and in particular to his report Friday that the government had accused a member of the Mexican Embassy staff of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

Wheeler was called to the Foreign Ministry at 4 a.m. and told he had two hours to get ready to leave the country.

He and his wife were to take a plane for Mexico City this morning.

Wheeler's departure leaves only one non-Communist newsman stationed in Havana, Edward Kuri of the Mexican news agency.

Week-End Report by Hope Police

Hope Police Dept. reported the following weekend summary: one traffic violation, three license violations, two drunk charges, three DWI and one disturbing the peace.

Total number of accidents for the year is 216.

Agnew Hints at 'Break' in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says "new things are happening" on the Hanoi-proclaimed cease-fire that he hopes might lead to peace in Vietnam.

Agnew said Sunday the matter was at "a particularly sensitive stage" and he couldn't discuss it further. He said he had talked with other officials about the implications of the cease-fire.

But at the Western White House, Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that he didn't think Agnew had spoken to President Nixon before the broadcast.

Agnew appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Meanwhile, W. Averell Harriman, the Johnson administration's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks, said U.S. troops should observe the three-day cease-fire regardless of what Saigon does.

Harriman said North Vietnam might welcome a peace initiative because of Ho's death.

He appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said North Vietnam must do three things before the United States should consider an extended truce.

"If the Communists start treating our prisoners of war in a humane way, if they will stop their infiltration or slow it down materially and if they de-escalate their military efforts, then I think the President could very easily look for a permanent or extended truce," Ford said.

Ford appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

134 Pints of Blood Donated Here

One hundred thirty four pints of blood were given by Hope and Hempstead County residents last Tuesday when the Bloodmobile visited at First Baptist Church.

Tied for honors in giving the most blood were the employees of Hempstead Memorial Hospital and students of the M.D.T. A. school under Joe Stover. Each had 14 donors. Oakhaven had the next largest group with 7 and Hope City Police gave 5 pints.

This was one of the rare occasions when Hempstead County exceeded its goal for a single visit. One hundred ten pints were needed and 134 were given toward the year quota of five hundred ten pints. The next visit of the Bloodmobile will be a two day affair, October 21st and 22nd. Haskell Jones, Local Blood Chairman, hopes to secure 250 pints on that visit.

Donors Tuesday were: Eugene Blake, Grand Lodermill, James Fort, Jr., Hollis Sasser, J.C. Caldwell, Bobby Thompson, Lonnie Collins, Jr., Jerry K. Miller, Russell Davis, Earl Rayford Jones, Louis Williams, David R. Bryan, Matthew Robinson, Gary Juris.

Loretta Nicholas, Mrs. Gary Formby, C.L. Cross, Linda Thompson, Edith M. Nix, Mattie May Formby.

U.S. Envoy Is Set Free in Brazil

By ISAAC FLORES
Associated Press Writer
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick said today his kidnappers kept their faces masked at all times during the four days they held him captive. He described them as "intelligent fanatics."

"They were not the kind of people you would like to engage in an argument," he told a news conference less than a day after being freed in exchange for 15 Brazilian political prisoners.

The 61-year-old veteran diplomat said he had little inkling of his abductors' "ideological orientation," but added that they had nothing good to say about the Brazilian government.

In their ransom note, the kidnappers identified themselves as belonging to the National Liberation Action and the MR—8. The number 8 represents Oct. 8, 1967, the date of Cuban revolutionary Ernest Che Guevara's death in Bolivia.

Of his captivity, Elbrick told newsmen: "I have no complaints about my treatment after the first night."

Elbrick was pistol-whipped on the head when he resisted getting in the kidnappers car last Thursday.

He said he was told about the reasons for the kidnapping "only in vague terms" and was not allowed to see any newspapers until Saturday afternoon, after the military junta agreed to the kidnappers' demands.

He speculated that the kidnappers did not want him to know they had threatened his life.

Meanwhile, Brazilian security officials launched a widespread hunt for Elbrick's abductors. They searched several hours in the area where he was set free. Police sources said at least a dozen persons were arrested.

3 Arkansans Die in Crash in W. Texas

PECCOS, Tex. (AP) — Four persons, including three from Arkansas, were killed Sunday in a flaming two-vehicle crash two miles east of Peccos.

The dead were identified as James M. York, 36, of Little Rock, his wife, Edna Verlene York, 36, Carl Nakula, 30, of North Little Rock and Douglas A. Ussery, 50, of Odessa.

The Texas Department of Public Safety said a car driven by Ussery was heading east in a westbound lane of Interstate 20 when it collided with a truck driven by York.

Authorities said all of the victims were burned.

Sanitation Strike at L.R. Delayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Local 994 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees has decided to continue talks with Little Rock city officials for two more weeks before deciding whether to strike.

About 300 city employees had voted Friday to begin a strike today in protest of the city's position on the union demand for a wage increase and a written working agreement.

The vote to postpone came Sunday in a closed-door meeting of the union which represents employees of the Sanitation and Parks and Recreation departments, the Public Works Division, parking meter repair crews, building maintenance workers and City Hall custodians.

Senate in Tribute to Dirksen

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everett McKinley Dirksen, dead at 73, was eulogized today as a Senate man, a leader whose unique style "is the stuff of legends."

The Senate, where he served for 10 years as leader of the Republican minority, met for 12 minutes and adjourned in tribute after adopting a resolution of sorrow.

Dirksen's body is to lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol for 24 hours, beginning at noon EDT Tuesday. The casket will be closed.

After Wednesday funeral services at National Presbyterian Church here, he is to be buried in Pekin, Ill., his birthplace.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., spoke the first formal eulogy to Dirksen, who died Sunday at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

"A great chair across the aisle stands empty," Mansfield said. "The Senate has lost a Senate man."

"Yet, his death does not diminish the Senate. His uniqueness is the stuff of legends and he leaves here a permanent imprint and an enduring echo."

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the acting GOP leader, spoke for the Republicans: "At the going down of the sun, and in the morning, we will remember him."

On Dirksen's desk, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, placed a golden margold, a white ribbon on the stem.

"He loved his margolds," she said of Dirksen.

During his brief session, the Senate passed a resolution expressing "profound sorrow and deep regret"—the traditional action to mark the death of a member.

A second resolution invited President Nixon and members of the House to join senators at memorial services for Dirksen in the rotunda Tuesday.

The public is to be admitted later to pay final respects to Dirksen.

Mansfield said the Senate will go ahead Tuesday with the business it had planned to consider today, a vote on an amendment to cut $533 million for C5A transport planes from the Pentagon budget.

The majority leader said the Senate also will transact business on Wednesday, prior to the Dirksen funeral at 2 p.m.

Mansfield said he plans no Senate session Thursday, since he assumes many members will go to Pekin for the burial service.

It was as the leader of the Republican minority in the Senate that Dirksen was best known.

At the peak of his power, during two Democratic administrations, the senator from Illinois fashioned that minority, and his own talent for oratory, drama and political maneuver, into a force which made him one of Washington's most influential figures.

Dirksen, ever the showman, was perhaps the best known of senators.

"He was an old pro," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, announcing the Senate would forgo business today to do honor to Dirksen, who died See Senate (On Page Two)

Sentenced to Death for Rape

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Carl Jackson, 15, a Negro of Little Rock, was found guilty Saturday of raping a white woman.

A Pulaski County Circuit Court jury fixing his punishment at death in the electric chair.

Jackson was accused of raping the 44-year-old woman Dec. 4, 1968, during a robbery at a Little Rock building supply firm.

The jury deliberated three hours and 45 minutes before returning the verdict. Jackson was charged with first-degree rape, which made the death sentence automatic.

Everett Dirksen, Who Was Everything U.S. Loves, Dies at 73

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — His language smacked of Shakespeare and the Bible and Victorian England, his delivery of William Jennings Bryan, his fervor of Billy Sunday.

His stage could have been the Chautauqua circuit and his product patent medicine. But he made it politics and when he spoke it was pure Americana, like the Fourth of July picnics of old in Pekin, Ill., where he grew up.

Everett McKinley Dirksen was an orator, a master at unrolling cubic yards of rhetoric at the slightest nudge. He was of the breed that went out with mustache cups and trolleys and shoes with hooks for laces.

He was the purveyor of the well-said put-down as well as the silky threads of praise. When Dirksen spoke, it flowed. It flowed.

"What strange doubts assail this timid generation of today as it beholds the challenges to both liberty and equality," he said once at Gettysburg on the 95th anniversary of Lincoln's address.

"We seem beset with fear not faith, with doubt not confidence, with dismay not conviction, with dismay not dedication. We

Ex-Bishop Pike Found Dead at Cliff

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Dr. James A. Pike, the former Episcopal bishop of California, could have died from a fall, thirst, heat, exhaustion, a heart attack or a combination of factors, police sources said today.

This assessment was based on a report by pathologists at Tel Aviv's Institute of Forensic Medicine. Details were not disclosed.

"It could have been the heat, injury, or maybe a heart attack, or thirst, or heat or just exhaustion—but probably a combination of all these things."

"There is no way of telling how the wilderness can drive a man to death."

Israeli authorities said the pathologists' report indicated that 56-year-old Pike apparently died within hours of being parted from his wife after their automobile got stuck in the desert near the Dead Sea a week ago.

Police ruled out any possibility of foul play in Pike's death.

Pike was to be buried Monday afternoon in St. Peter's Cemetery at Jaffa, a suburb of Tel Aviv.

His body was recovered Sunday from a ledge of a deep canyon about two miles from where his wife, Diane, 31, had left him to go for aid. He apparently had fallen from a cliff.

"There was no more appropriate place for Jim to die, if he had to die," said Mrs. Pike. She told newsmen her 56-year-old husband remarked before they set out on the trip: "If I die here, I will be happy and at peace."

The Pikes came to the Holy Land to do research for a book on the life of Christ.

"And now Jim has died in the place where Jesus found consolation," she said. "The book must be finished. My brother and I will do it. It will be a memorial to Jim."

Pike was to be buried Monday afternoon at St. Peter's Cemetery in Jaffa, a Tel Aviv suburb, the government announced. Mrs. Pike made the decision after talking with her husband's relatives in the United States.

U.S. to Cut Fighting as Enemy Does

By GEORGE ESTER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands announced today that allied military operations would be scaled to match the enemy's during the Viet Cong's three-day cease-fire in mourning for Ho Chi Minh.

The joint South Vietnamese-American communiqué readily accepted the three-day truce although it declared: "It is not our intention to talk about a cease-fire at this time."

The communiqué confirmed earlier reports that the allied forces were in a "defensive posture" but patrols were continuing to build up troops and firepower closer to allied bases.

The joint communiqué said: "The scale of our military operations in the past has been influenced by the scale of enemy military operations. During this period the scope of our military operations will likewise be influenced by the nature of enemy military operations."

The Communist announcement of a cease-fire must be viewed in the light of the savage rocket attacks against civilians in Da Nang, and other aggressive actions which have followed the announcement. It must also be viewed in the light of the known history of past Communist violations of cease-fires which they themselves had proposed. Consequently it is not our intention to talk about cease-fires at this time."

American B52 bombing raids previously scheduled for targets in South Vietnam were diverted to attack North Vietnamese infiltration trails through Laos, informed sources said.

One radio message heard in the field from an American company commander to his top sergeant said: "The thing is today we'll have sort of a cease-fire in our hostile actions. We don't want to take anything under fire unless it's absolutely necessary."

A spokesman for the U.S. Command said that according to early reports, "the level of enemy-initiated actions is relatively low."

He said no shelling of American bases had been reported and there had been only a handful of "insignificant incidents."

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a dozen enemy attacks in which 10 civilians and three soldiers were killed and 36 persons wounded, including 18 civilians.

In one attack, the Viet Cong detonated a land mine electrically under a bus 35 miles south of Da Nang, killing 10 civilians and wounding 15. This happened nearly 11 hours after the Viet Cong cease-fire was to start.

Viet Cong troops also killed 2 American infantrymen and wounded five others in an ambush 37 miles southeast of Da Nang.

South Vietnamese military officials reported one minor ground attack and four mortar and rocket attacks on towns and outposts before dawn. American forces opened fire on two moving enemy groups about 2 miles northwest of Saigon.

Man Killed in Blast at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Leo Brooks, 50, of Pine Bluff was killed early Sunday in an explosion in the pulp mill of the International Paper Co. plant here.

Two other workmen were injured, James Norsworthy of Pine Bluff was hospitalized and J. B. Bennett of Pine Bluff was released from the hospital after emergency treatment.

Officials said an investigation was begun to determine the cause of the explosion. A spokesman said damage was confined to the immediate area of the explosion.

Russia Gives Billion Year to N. Vietnam

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and North Vietnamese leaders conferred in Hanoi Sunday on the Vietnam war after the Soviet leader placed a wreath at the bier of Ho Chi Minh.

Noticeably absent from the talks were Communist China's top leaders who are competing with the men in the Kremlin for influence with Hanoi. Premier Chou En-lai and a Chinese delegation paid their respects to Ho Thursday then went home before Kosygin arrived.

Details of Kosygin's talks with Ho's political heirs were not disclosed, but the Russian presumably learned of future Hanoi policy toward the Vietnam war and the Paris peace talks. Tass said they discussed "steps to further develop fraternal friendship and close cooperation" between the North Vietnamese and Soviet governments and Communist parties.

The Kremlin has provided an estimated $1 billion a year in aid to Hanoi and has favored the Paris peace talks. Red China has disapproved of the talks.

The mourning crowd continued to grow today, and delegations from 11 more countries arrived in Hanoi Sunday, Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency reported.

Queues continued to form at newsstands for papers and portraits of Ho, who died Wednesday. Florists sold wreaths as fast as they could make them, VNA said.

The dead president is to be given a state
